Penobscot
1999
Oil on board
229 x 305 x 4 mm
This is one of a series of paintings from the late 1990s exploring the sparkling summer light of the Penobscot, Maine coastline. Katz painted these beach scenes 'en plein air' at both sunrise and sunset.

Ocean View
1992
Oil paint on fibreboard
231 × 320 × 6 mm

Small oil paintings such as this one are sketched from life and often intended to be scaled up into larger works, but their economic execution and visible brushstrokes reveal an intimate side to his practice. He says, "A sketch is very direct. It is working empirically, inside of an idea."
